

What would you do if you were mayor for a day?

Written by Stella Waswick

If I were mayor I would have them replace school lunches. Then I would make everyone bring kindness to each other. Lastly, I will ban annoying words like the 67 joke. That's what I would do as mayor.

The first thing I would do as mayor is replace school lunches. Some people do not like them which causes them to starve themselves and that's not good. They would have more healthy foods but they will still have other options that are just less greasy and better. They will have water, juice, milk and it's for free so you don't have to be jealous about what another person has because they will still have all the same options.

The second thing I would do as mayor is teach everyone to be kind. People get really insecure about themselves and the way they look because of bullying. They go home stressed and sad because they get made fun of all the time. It just keeps happening though so I would teach the bullies a lesson and they would have to go to summer school and ISS because it can not keep happening.

The last thing I would do is ban memes. The reason I would do this is because they just get annoying after a while. Some people get really distracted from the people who say things like that if you're in school. Also some people don't even know what the word means if it's in a different language it could mean something hurtful or just bad. Especially little kids who have phones at a young age just get brainrotted and that's all they will ever talk about so it's not good to have all these memes.

That's how I would spend the day as a mayor. Also what I would do in these situations because it's not good to have all this bad stuff happening. So I think I would make a great mayor and have everything fair.

IF I WAS A MAYOR FOR THE DAY WHAT WOULD I DO?

Written By Seth Bailey

If I was the mayor for the day I would build more homeless shelters. Also I would Give free food to people in need. The second thing I would do is ban bullying. Lastly i would make social media for people 15 and older.

I would build homeless shelters because homeless people need it. Also a lot of homeless people die from a lot of things like diseases. Another reason is that they can die from starvation. Also if it's raining the shelter would help.

I think bullying should be banned if I was the mayor for a day because people Go through a lot. Also when people get bullied they take their own life. When people get bullied they deal with depresion. Bullying is not a one time thing. It is an every day thing.

Branirot is basically a trend that people do on social media. They do it because it's cool, but they take it way too overboard.I would ban brainrot because it makes people more dumb. Also I don't like it.It is very annoying and people say it too much. Another reason is children won't be able to learn.

In conclusion I would love to be a mayor for a day. It would be very fun. I can make a lot of things like end brainrot, ban bullying, make social media 15 and older, and make more homeless shelters. I also think I can make things better. It was also fun!

Sailor Thompson 5th grade What would I do if I was mayor?

"No way, I'm mayor? What should I do?". Well, first, I'm going to list my reasons. The first thing I would do is make the weekend 3 days long. Next, I would build a skatepark. Lastly, I would make school days 3 hours long! Let's get into it!

First, Why would I want to make the weekend 3 days long? Well, my first reason is sleep, why sleep? Because most kids these days don't get good sleep. Most kids get 3-5 hours of sleep filled with nightmares. So if we had one extra day to get more energy for school the next day, we would get more work done.

My second thing I would change as mayor would be to build more skateparks in Greencove. I would build more because the closest skatepark is half an hour away! Kids should be able to have fun and exercise at skateparks. Skateparks are good exercise for your legs, feet, and core. Those are my reasons for wanting to build more skateparks.

My last, but not least thing I would do as mayor would be make the school day 3 hours long instead of 6. The reason for that is boredom, kids should have the ability to move around during the day. My next reason is free time, would you want to do math all day? My next reason is because kids might have hobbies or jobs outside of school. Now let's move to the conclusion.

In conclusion, the three things I would do as mayor would be 3 day weekends, make another skatepark, and make school 3 hours long. If you were mayor, what would you do? Would you make a gym? Or would you make more food places? It's up to you!

Emma Ratterree - October 10th, 2025

I just got elected Mayor of Green Cove Springs, and here are three things I will change about this city. For one, there are going to be neighborhoods for the homeless and poor people. Second, there will be big celebrations for each holiday. And lastly, we will pick up trash around the city to keep it clean.

The neighborhoods for poor or homeless people will include grocery stores with free food, water, supplies, and toys for everyone. There will also be beaches that have free toys to play in the sand and water for everyone to share and play with. There will also be golf carts, bikes, buses, and other vehicles used for transporting people. Everyone in the neighborhood will be able to enjoy the events and other stuff available.

For celebrating holidays, each holiday will have one party that has its own theme and it will include everyone visiting and living in the city. If someone in the city does not want to be included in the party, they will have an option to not attend it and stay home. Also, there will be a special main attraction that gets fit to the theme of each holiday, and people will be able to decorate it and take pictures with it.

And lastly, for protecting the environment, every month we will get together and pick up the trash that has been thrown around the city. As the mayor of the city, I will make sure most people of Green Cove Springs can and will participate and help do their part around the city. After we make sure there is no trash left around the city, we will meet at one place and enjoy popsicles, drinks, and other foods.

I think these three things will make Green Cove Springs a better place. The neighborhoods for the homeless people will be here, along with the big celebrations for holidays, and picking up trash around Green Cove Springs.

Abigayle Young October 10, 2025

I just got elected mayor of Green Cove Springs, and here are some of the things I would like to change about it. The first thing I would do is give teachers more supplies for students, the next thing I would do is make sure the community is safe and clean, lastly I would give back to the community so everyone gets the help that they need.

I will give teachers more supplies for students. So they can get the right education. Because if students don't have headphones they will have to turn the volume down and they might get the wrong answer because they can't hear. Also if they don't have a pencil they have to ask someone for one and they might get in trouble for disrupting the class.

The next thing I will do is make sure our community is safe and clean. Nobody wants a dirty and trashy environment. So I would hire people to help clean up the community so Green Cove Springs can have a clean and safe community.

Lastly I would give back to the community so everyone that is low on money can get the help that they need. Not everyone has a lot of money and gets whatever they want. Some parents don't have money for their kids' clothes, shoes, and sometimes they don't have enough money for food. So I will do anything and everything to help them.

In conclusion, those are the things I would change about Green Cove Springs. I would like to change more about Green Cove but those are my best reasons. I will do everything in my power to keep my promises and do everything I say so I will be a great mayor.